The product shop shot list

Ten clips to film in one afternoon. The same few shots turn up in Reel after Reel, so film them once and you have footage for weeks of posts.

tick each one off as you film it

	Film this	Use it for
☐	Your product on its own 5 s On a plain table in daylight. Hold the shot still, then do one slow push in.	Almost every Reel: the opening, the ending, "check this before you buy"
☐	Your product in use 3 clips, 4 s each In a real room, used the way a customer uses it. Film three different moments.	"One product, three ways", "a day with it", the end of any Reel
☐	In your hand 3 s Picked up and turned once, so people can judge the size.	"How big is it?", answering a customer question
☐	Close-ups 4 clips, 4 s each Phone a hand's width away: the texture, the stitching, the label, the clasp.	"The details", a new drop reveal, "what it feels like"
☐	Packing an order 3 clips, 4 s each Phone above the table: the product going in, the extras going in, the box closing.	"Pack an order with me", "your order just arrived", small batch
☐	The unboxing 7 s Hands opening it from the customer's side. Get the lid off in the first 2 seconds.	"Your order just arrived", gift Reels
☐	Making it 3 stages, 4 s each Raw materials, the middle, the finished piece. Same angle each time.	"Start to finish", "everything that goes into one"
☐	Before and after 2 clips, 5 s each The problem your product fixes, then the same spot fixed. Keep the phone in one place.	"Before and after", "the annoying moment", "mine vs the usual kind"
☐	You, talking to camera 8 s Phone at eye level, window in front of you. One sentence about who it's for.	"Who it's for", the ending of a test or comparison
☐	Your shop, scrolling 4 s A screen recording of your shop page, scrolled slowly from the top.	"Every option in 10 seconds", gift guides, any call to shop
