How to use your Reel templates

Film a few short clips of your product on your phone, drop them into the template, type your own words over the brackets, then post.

1. What you need

- Your product and your phone camera.
- CapCut, free. Use the computer version for the project file, or the phone app with the shot guide.
- The template's recipe card. It lists every clip, how long it is and what to film.

2. Film your clips

- Hold your phone upright (vertical).
- Start each clip right on the action. Anything extra at the end gets trimmed.
- Stand near a window for soft light, and keep the phone still (lean it on something).
- Keep your product in the middle of the frame. Words go at the top and bottom.

3a. On a computer (Windows)

1. Install CapCut for computer and open it once.
2. Unzip your template. Put your clips in the folder 1 Put your clips here, named 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 in shot order.
3. Double-click 2 Double-click to install. If Windows asks, choose More info, then Run anyway.
4. Close CapCut and open it again. The template is on the home screen with your clips already in it. There's no file to open or import.
5. Double-click each text box and type over the [brackets].
6. Click Export (1080p, 30 fps).

Want a different clip in a shot? Right-click it on the timeline, choose Replace, and pick another.

3b. On your phone

1. Watch the shot guide video once so you know the timing.
2. In CapCut, tap New project and add your clips in the order on the card.
3. Tap each clip and drag its edges until it matches the seconds on the card.
4. Tap Text, then Add text, and type each line from the card. Drag it to start and end at the times listed.
5. Tap Export.

4. Add sound in Instagram

The templates come without music, so your Reel never gets muted for a song you don't have rights to.

- Upload your Reel, then tap Add audio. On a business account, Instagram only shows sounds cleared for business.
- Each template suggests a mood, like "light, upbeat acoustic". Search for that.
- Skip CapCut's built-in music unless a track is clearly marked for commercial use.

5. Before you post

- Watch it once with the sound off. Can you tell what you sell from the words alone?
- Check the last clip says your product's name and where to buy it.
- Write a caption whose first line is useful on its own, for example "Three ways to use one tote, including one for the car."
- Use real reviews, real numbers and real dates only. Never show a customer's name or address.
